Nursing Laboratory Technician Position
(Lab Tech Position)

Position Reports To: This position works under the direct supervision of the Nursing Laboratory Manager

There may be multiple employment positions available in Nursing. The applicants will:
- Complete and attach a completed application electronically by email to Dr. Wilkins (cwilkins@muskingum.edu) or physically drop one off to the secretary in the Nursing Department, BSC 416
- Interview with Dr. Wilkins and/or her designee
- Must be self-directed and know when to ask for assistance

Time schedule for each position will be best matched with the needs of the lab and the academic schedule of the best candidate

Duties or Job Expectations:
- Works under the direct supervision of the Laboratory Manager for Nursing
- At no time is this person considered in a primary teaching role with peers. This is always referred to the faculty
- Provides technical support at the direction of faculty in the setup and maintenance of the nursing lab
- Provides support for the faculty under their guidance
- Manages open lab hours at the direction of the Laboratory Manager in order for nursing students to practice lab skills
- Maintains the security of the lab and its contents during open lab hours
- Is self-directed in managing and reporting hours to the Laboratory Manager or he designee

Requirements:
- Must be in the Nursing Curriculum at the sophomore, junior or senior level during the current academic year
- Have a GPA Accum > 3.0
- Have a letter of recommendation from two Muskingum University faculty members. This may be sent via email directly to Dr. Wilkins supporting your consideration for the position
- Be available for 6-10 hours/week for 14 weeks both fall and spring semesters
- Provides support to students in acquiring equipment and supplies for lab practice